South Tyrone Hospital, Dungannon

© Remmers UK Remmers UK

Reference data

- Building activity
  Façade restoration with energy efficiency measures / concrete , Concrete restoration
- Object type
  Hospitals
- Object address
  , BT71 4AU Dungannon
- Contractor
  Larsen Contracts
- Viewing possible?
  No

Description

The South Tyrone Hospital is a local hospital in Dungannon, County Tyrone, Northern Ireland. It is managed by the Southern Health and Social Care Trust. The £2.9 million external refurbishment of the Hospital was carried out in 2013.

Problem

Works included new rain screen cladding and essential structural repair to the underlying concrete ring beams. Larsen Contracts chose Remmers systems to carry out fast concrete repair and prevent ongoing corrosion to reinforcing bars using a migrating corrosion inhibitor. All products where in accordance with EN 1504 for concrete repair.

Product systems / sizes used

› Betofix R4

Art. No. 1096

› Betofix R2

Art. No. 1093

Further information can be found on:

https://www.remmers.co.uk/en_GB/referenceDetail/2625