

Palacio de los Capitanes Generales, Havana (CU)

© Sven Creutzmann / MD Projektmanagement GmbH Sven Creutzmann / MD Projektmanagement GmbH

Reference data

- Building activity
Façade restoration , Façade restoration / natural stone
- Object type
Historically protected / historically valuable buildings , Schools / universities / museums , Castles / forts , Other public buildings
- Object address
, La Habana
- Date / Completion
2020
- Architect
Oficina del Historiador
- Contractor
Michael Diegmann
- Viewing possible?
No

Description

Constructed in 1750, this building has served as the palace for the Governor of Havana and the headquarters of the Spanish occupying forces. Nowadays, it is part of the Havana City Museum.

Problem

Owing to the building's age, there were high levels of dirt on the limestone in the inner courtyard. The façade needed to be cleaned in a way that would not have a major impact on visitor numbers. It also needed to be ensured that the museum's exhibition rooms would not be negatively affected by the refurbishment work, e.g. as a result of dust and dirt.

Product systems / sizes used

> Clean Galena max

Art. No. 0661

Impressions

©

©

©

Further information can be found on:

https://www.remmers.co.uk/en_GB/referenceDetail/20928